Bevin Charges Russia Grabs Reich Warships

LONDON, (CP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin plans to see Prime Minister Stalin personally to urge a change of Russian policy so that the dominions can take a fuller share in the drafting of the Austrian and German settlements, it was learned Wednesday.

MOSCOW, (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin Wednesday accused Russia of failure to live up to agreements to destroy major German naval vessels under the Potsdam agreement and to treat Germany as an economic unit.

Bevin's long statement before the four-power foreign ministers' council was made in answer to Russian charges Tuesday by Foreign Minister Molotov that Britain and the United States were maintaining German armed formations and dismantling German war plants too slowly.

Bevin accused the Soviet Union of failure to report the number of German prisoners of war held outside Germany and demanded to know whether Russia was transferring German property in eastern zones to Soviet ownership.

Molotov's reply to Bevin's blast was surprisingly mild. He agreed to furnish data on the number of German prisoners of war held in the Soviet Union if other countries would do the same.

A determined American effort to win Soviet approval for early economic unification of Germany was developing in the council with an implied warning that if the Russians fail to go along they will get fewer German industrial plants for reparations.

The trend of United States policy, which closely paralleled that of Britain, became apparent as the council began probing the enormous, complicated problem of Germany, with the eastern and western powers badly split at the outset.

Molotov launched an immediate attack on the American and British conduct of the western zones of occupation in Germany when detailed discussions began Tuesday night, asserting flatly that demilitarization and destruction of the German war potential—meaning heavy industry—was unsatisfactory in those zones.

Foreign Minister Bidault stressed only France's interest in rendering Germany permanently powerless, and Bevin said he thought demilitarization had "really gone ahead very well."

Marshall, in the lengthiest statement, said he considered the report on demilitarization from the Allied control council satisfactory, but agreed with Molotov that unsatisfactory discussions began Tuesday night.

Dove, Parrot, Chikin To Work With Oxx

MOSCOW, (Reuters)—Big Four conference delegates Wednesday day when names of the military sub-committee of the foreign ministers' deputies dealing with the Austrian treaty were announced.

They were Col. Francis H. Oxx, of the United States; Col. Chikin, Russia; Brig. Arthur Dove, Britain; and Gen. Perruche (the French word for parakeet) of France.

Two Men Held In L.A. Slaying

FRESNO, Calif., (AP)—The tortured body of nine-year-old Esther Lee Lewis was found Wednesday beside a slough near the farming community of Sanger. Underneath it John Ford said it was "horribly mutilated." It was the fifth slaying in California in two months.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The sheriff's office booked two men on suspicion of murder early Wednesday after fingerprints identified the second of two women found brutally slain Tuesday, the third and fourth such victims in Los Angeles and vicinity in two months.

Police said fingerprints identified the red-haired woman found along the San Gabriel river near Norwalk, strangled and with her head battered, as Mrs. Mary Lorena Preston, 46, of nearby Bellflower.

Police added they booked Frank Funk, 52, a cement contractor, and his son, Myron, 23, a foundry moulder, of South Gate, near Bellflower, on suspicion of murder after they told of being friendly with Mrs. Preston although denying they knew how she was killed.

Detectives, checking Mrs. Preston's residence, found it unlocked and encountered the elder Funk there. Bloodstains were in the house, tending to confirm an earlier theory that the woman was killed in bed, then taken to the river.

The other woman slain Tuesday was Miss Evelyn Winters, 42, for years a film studio legal secretary in Los Angeles, who had been living in permanent residence. Her 70-year-old mother said her daughter had become a barroom habitué.

The Weather

Forecast: Clear, becoming cloudy this evening, cloudy Thursday. Light winds increasing to south 15 m.p.h. tomorrow afternoon. Milder.

Clear cold weather continues on the western prairies. However, temperatures have been moderating slowly during the last few days and this upward trend will continue Wednesday and Thursday.

Southwesterly winds that will develop over British Columbia are expected to sweep the mild Pacific air into Alberta Thursday giving rising temperatures across the province for the first time since the middle of February. Moderation will also be felt across Saskatchewan but the change will not be as sudden.

An intense storm centre now approaching the coast will give increasing cloudiness over the prairies Thursday with overcast skies becoming general across Alberta by Thursday evening.

Estimated low tonight, zero. Estimated high tomorrow, 30 above.

At Edmonton Thursday, sun rises 6:56; sets 6:38. Yesterday's maximum, 27 above. Overnight low, 11 below. Snowfall, 2 of an inch.

New Outbreaks of Rioting Sweep Hindu-Moslem Areas

Damage is estimated at $30,000, and the known dead is 117 and injured, 183, in a new outbreak of violence in Amritsar, sacred city of the Sikhs. One-tenth of the city lies in smouldering ruins as a result of the most destructive communal rioting in history. The renewed outbreaks are turning Indian cities, notably those of the Punjab, into bloody infernos as rival Moslem and Hindu factions carry fire and sword into the bitter controversy.

This picture, taken during previous Moslem-Hindu fighting, shows police breaking up a disturbance in Chowpatty near Bombay, with a stone charge and arresting one of the rioters.

Farmer's Big Find Proves Jap Mine

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., (CP)—There is a red-faced farmer in the Queen Charlotte Islands today.

James Waters of Tow Hill was strolling along a beach when he found a round, large-sized steel ball. He had ideas—it would make a good water trough for his cattle.

He loaded it on a cart and drove home 20 miles over rough roads, dumping the "big ball" beside the barn.

It was found by a provincial police officer. A hurried call brought Pte. L. A. G. Dyer, R.C.A.F., Prince Rupert, and Warrant Officer Woods of the navy, an expert shot.

The ball was hauled about 350 yards from the farm buildings and the shooting started. The second shot did it. There was a big explosion, and then a yawning hole, 14 feet across and six feet deep.

Farmer Waters had found a Japanese mine.

Authorities said they would be conveyed to Halifax for trans-shipment to Cyprus internment camps.

Earlier a party of five or six Jewish undergrounds, striking under cover of heavy machinegun and revolver fire an hour before dawn, blasted a hole in a 15-foot stone wall and then placed explosives against a building in which Royal Pte. Corporations were quartered.

The attackers left two sacks filled with gelignite explosive at the scene.

As one result of the new outbreak, military authorities clamped on a new dawn-to-dusk house curfew on the Jewish quarters of Jerusalem, beginning at 6:00 p.m. Wednesday.

(Reuters News Agency later said a dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed on the northern coastal area of Palestine covering all predominantly Jewish areas.)

A British soldier shot and seriously wounded a young Jew in the vicinity of Zion square here Tuesday night.

The soldier, who has been arrested, had an argument with a bus driver and fired the shot after a policeman intervened, it was stated.

Essentials of deflation include cutting down on national expenditure.

The general aim of the cheap money policy was to cheapen the cost of the national debt, and incidentally to make nationalization cheaper. At the price of industrial breakdown, cheap money proves altogether too dear.

For the first time in 20 years, monetary deflation now is practical economics and respectable politics—and it seems inescapable.

Britain's trouble can be summed up in one word—deflation. Economic spending on electricity, tobacco, betting and transport are merely where the inflation breaks through. Some of these symptoms must be treated individually, but the real need is to treat the disease.

Provincial legislature Wednesday voted down a proposal to establish a system of registration of voters during provincial elections in four Alberta cities.

The legislature was sitting as a committee of the whole house on a committee of the whole house to study the proposals of a house committee for revisions in the Alberta Elections Act.

New legislation will not contain the proposal regarding registration, Hon. Lucien Maynard, attorney general, said following the hearing Wednesday.

Representations opposing registration were made by Mayor Aitlay, Ald. Gies and Ald. Mitchell, of Edmonton; Mayor Weston, Ald. Alderman and Ald. Lancaster, of Calgary; Herbert Turner, secretary of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council; J. A. LaRue, an Edmonton citizen; Jan Lakeman, representing the Canadian Congress of Labor Unions.

Mayor Aitlay said the main objection of the Edmonton city council was that it would be "a step backward" in the move to make it as easy as possible for people to vote.

"Many people who by election day would wish to cast ballots would be prohibited from so doing because they did not register," Mayor Aitlay said.

Registration in the past had revealed nothing to commend it for Alberta's four cities.

"Enumeration has not failed," the mayor declared. "Possibly the machinery of enumeration in provincial elections has failed, but there is nothing wrong with the principle."

Charge "Protection" By Victoria Police

VICTORIA, (CP)—Mayor Percy E. George, confronted by allegations that members of the police force here were accepting "protection money" from a "gambling fraternity," Tuesday night ordered Police Chief J. A. McCallan to "immediately suspend any police officer found negligent in his duty."

Mayor George, chairman of the police commission, said he was being continually harassed by charges of police department corruption and negligence of duty.

Firemen quickly brought the fire under control.

Arrest Calgarian In $30,000 Deal

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Joseph Blair, 48, of Calgary, was arrested here Tuesday on charges of perjury and defrauding creditors.

Police estimate $30,000 is involved in a deal in which Blair is alleged to have made false affidavits in Calgary.

Police were advised by Calgary authorities that Blair might be in possession of $25,000 in one dollar bills, but when arrested he had no money. Bankbooks found indicated his money may be on deposit in a Calgary bank.

New York Editor Killed In Plunge

NEW YORK, (AP)—Edward P. Flynn, 41, executive editor of the New York Post and the Bronx Home News, died early Wednesday in a plunge from a window of his eighth floor apartment during a fire there.

"I'm trapped, I'm going to jump," Flynn was heard to call before he plunged from a kitchen window of the smoke-filled apartment.

Police said Flynn's body fell to the skylight of a one-story building extension, scattering glass on the beds occupied by Mrs. William Logan, wife of apartment superintendent, and their daughter, Elizabeth. They were not injured.

As Deputy Fire Chief Gowdy reconstructed the events, Flynn had gone from his bedroom to the large living room of the apartment to rest on a divan, leaving a cigarette smouldering in the bedroom.

Upon being awakened by smoke, Flynn found he could not re-enter the bedroom to reach a fire escape or to get the key to the apartment's night lock. He then rushed to the window, called to residents of nearby apartments, and finally, in panic, jumped.

Firemen quickly brought the fire under control.

200 Jewish Immigrants Escape British Blockade

JERUSALEM, (AP)—More than 200 illegal Jewish immigrants aboard a refugee ship from Italy disappeared in the southern Palestine countryside Wednesday after the small vessel ran the British blockade during the night and drove hard aground near Gaza.

British military authorities announced that 560 of the estimated 800 immigrants aboard the ship, identified as the 400-ton Spanana, had been rounded up after getting ashore.

Authorities said they would be conveyed to Haifa for trans-shipment to Cyprus internment camps.

Nazi's Curiosity Ends in Capture

NUERNBERG, (AP)—Curiosity got the best of Wilhelm Burgher, 50, now he is a defendant in jeopardy of the hangman's noose instead of peddling insurance in Nuernberg.

Burgher, a leader in the concentration camp business administration, had been a free man living under an alias until Monday.

He read that his old pal Oswald Pohl, Himmler's hatchet man, and 17 others were to be arraigned before a United States court for crimes against humanity.

Churchill declared the government has "divided this nation in its hour of serious need in a different way from which it has ever been divided in the many party conflicts I have witnessed in the past."

"In less than two years, our country has fallen from its proud and glorious position in the world to the plight in which it lies today," he said. "There is no need for a bread shortage and there was no need for a breakdown in coal. These shortages were merely marginal and could have been provided against by foresight and prudence."

"The British people today are undernourished."

Government benches shouted "nonsense."

Workers Insufficient To Fill Industries

By Charles Nichols

LONDON.—British parliament's first economic budget debate—billed as a history-making attempt to balance the nation's requirements and resources—entered its third day Wednesday with no sign of any clear-cut plans from either side of the house.

Most of the government leaders concerned directly with the present critical situation—in which the country finds itself with too few manpower and material resources to carry out production required to make it self-supporting—already have intervened in the debate. But so far, they have simply reviewed the situation and suggested informal measures to increase production.

Sir Stafford Cripps has promised the government is to appoint a series of planning committees under the direction of a planner-in-chief of cabinet rank.

The second day's debate Tuesday brought from the Labor minister, George Isaacs, the formal parliamentary announcement that the government intended to import 4,000 European displaced persons from the British occupation zone in Germany to work in British industry. This is in addition to recruiting for industry as many of the 200,000 Polish veterans in the country as are willing to go into mines and factories.

Promises Made

He made it quite clear that there were not sufficient workers available to man all the industries even if all the people who could be employed were employed. Propaganda campaigns were being undertaken to attract women who had left the factories at the war's end, back to workbenches, and ex-miners back to the newly-nationalized coal pits—enticed further by the promise of a five-day week and better working conditions.

The minister grasped tentatively at one of the most prickly nettles. Women workers have been steadily drifting from the vital textile mills to work in the offices of the lucrative football betting pools. Although reluctant to clip activities of the pools, which provide workers with the chance to make small fortunes on six-penny bets, the minister promised the government would begin conversations with pool managements to induce them to employ only workers who would not be useful in more productive industries.

With the end of Isaacs' speech, the even and solemn tenor of the debate came to an abrupt end. Defence Minister A. V. Alexander became ruffled by interruptions from Conservative benches and threw the house into the angriest turmoil of the present parliament.

Storm Begins

The defence chief barked at the opposition that he had to listen in the last two days to "nothing but this old Tory piffle and poppycock." That was strong meat for the sedate chamber. The storm began.

From the Conservative benches came shouts of "disgusting" and "fuehrer" and the minister was unable to speak against the uproar. When he could, he quoted a 1938 speech by Winston Churchill in which he charged that the pre-war Conservative government had failed either to prevent war or to equip the nation properly for the conflict. The Conservatives responded by asking Alexander how often he had voted against naval estimates before the war and how often he had voted against conscription.

Led by R. A. Butler, 20 Conservatives stalked out of the chamber. As the storm abated, the debate should have ended; but backbench Conservatives, together with a few Labor members who had not an opportunity to speak protested adjournment. For an hour the house debated on whether the debate should be continued. By this time the attendance had thinned out and when the vote on adjournment was taken only 61 Conservatives and Labor members entered the opposition lobby.

factory progress had been made in the destruction of the German war potential in heavy industry.

Marshall added, however, that removal of heavy industrial plants as reparations in line with decisions agreed upon at Potsdam could be completed only when the four zones of Occupied Germany were unified economically. If Germany's economic disunity is continued, he declared, it will be necessary to have a higher level of industry than if there is economic unity.

So far as the United States was concerned, this appeared to leave Molotov mainly the choice of coming around to some kind of an economic system which would allow a more balanced German economy throughout the east and west zones of Germany, or of facing up to the implication that the Americans and the British are unwilling to dismantle for reparations as many plants as otherwise planned.

Still on the council's "held in suspense" file was Marshall's opening day proposal that the limitation of occupation troops in Europe be placed on the agenda. Molotov asked for more time Monday and Tuesday and Marshall did not press it.

Bevin tossed in a diplomatic bombshell of his own during the caustic discussion of the demilitarization question, suggesting that "it might be useful" to know the number of prisoners of war held outside Germany.

Russia has rebutted all previous questions on this subject.

In the face of opposition from the western powers, Molotov withdrew his request to have the question of China placed on the agenda.

Plan Rights' Bill In Saskatchewan

REGINA, (CP)—First reading of a "Bill of Rights" reaffirming basic freedoms and providing for penalties for racial or religious discrimination, will be moved later this week in the Saskatchewan legislature, Attorney-General Corman said Tuesday.

Mr. Corman said in an interview he expected the bill would have a "rough" passage through the house and would likely be the last piece of contentious legislation dealt with at the current sitting.

Alan Embury, armed forces representative for the Mediterranean theatre, is expected to attack the bill on the grounds that the freedoms reaffirmed are inconsistent with "socialistic" practices of the C.C.F. government.

Loss Estimated $30,000,000 After Rioting in Amritsar

By Noel Buckley

AMRITSAR, India, (Reuters)—Quiet as a grave in a 24-hour curfew, one-tenth of Amritsar, sacred city of the Sikhs, lies in smouldering rubble Wednesday after the most destructive outburst of communal rioting in its history.

Tuesday I walked through the former bazaar area where opened safes, lying amid the ruins, and the clean-swept shelves of such shops as remain unburned, show how thorough was the looting which preceded arson.

In the Moslem areas only the Hindu and Sikh shops were attacked, in the Hindu and Sikh areas only the Moslem shops suffered.

In the narrow lanes—reeking from blocked drains—goods dragged from the shops lie a foot deep in ashes and famished dogs and cattle scavenge amid the refuse.

In the Golden Temple of the Sikhs in the heart of the city, where Sikh priests ceaselessly read aloud from their holy book, refugees wrapped in blankets lie on the marble floors and are fed by the temple authorities.

Damage is estimated at $30,000,000. Known dead are 117 and injured 153, but there is no reliable estimate of the homeless.

NEW DELHI, (Reuters)—Troops were standing by in Northwest Frontier province towns under curfew Wednesday as the wave of riots spread from the Punjab to Peshawar and other districts where the Moslem League has been agitating against the ban on meetings and processions.

U.S. Aid Asked For Greece, Turks particularly along the northern boundaries.

"Meanwhile, the Greek government is unable to cope with the situation. The Greek army is small and poorly equipped. It needs supplies and equipment. . . Greece must have assistance if it is to become a self-supporting and self-respecting democracy."

"U.S. Must Act"

Then the president emphasized that the United States must supply that assistance—that "no other nation is willing and able to provide the necessary support for a democratic Greek government."

Truman replied to those who have suggested that Greece is a problem for the United Nations—not for United States action alone—by saying that the need for immediate action is so urgent that there is no way at this time for the United Nations to extend help.

Should the United States fail to aid Greece and Turkey "in this fateful hour," the effect "will be far-reaching to the west as well as to the east."

Asks Resolute Action

"We must take immediate and resolute action."

Without specifying, the president, in effect, accused Russia of violating the agreement at the Stalin-Roosevelt-Churchill Yalta conference for freedom of choice by European countries as to the kind of governments they want.

"The peoples of a number of countries of the world have recently had totalitarian regimes forced upon them against their will. The government of the United States has made frequent protests against coercion and intimidation, in violation of the Yalta agreement, in Poland, Rumania, and Bulgaria. I must also state that in a number of other countries there have been similar developments. . ."

Eisenhower Probes Cutoff at Haines

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower, United States army chief of staff, has expressed concern over proposed closing by Canada of the Haines cutoff on the Alaska highway.

Senator Warren Magnuson made public Wednesday a letter from Eisenhower in which the general said he intended to investigate at once the proposed action, asserting that the Haines cutoff was the "most important link" in the Alaska military highway system.

The senator said he had been told it was planned to close the cutoff March 25.

Question of closing Haines cutoff—the road linking Whitehorse, Yukon, with Haines, Alaska—was a complete mystery to the Alaska highway control office in Edmonton. An official said Wednesday they had no knowledge of what it was about as no word of closing the road had been received here. The cutoff is closed in winter anyway, because of heavy snow. But it will be re-opened in spring for summer travel so far as is known in Edmonton.

Kicks, Punches Fly In French House

PARIS, (AP)—Kicks and punches flew between Rightist and Communist members of the French national assembly Tuesday at a stormy session devoted to discussion of the Viet Namese rebellion against French rule in Indo-China.

The ill-feeling started when Pierre Andre, a Rightist, accused Communist Leader Maurice Thorez of tacitly supporting the Viet Nam revolt and, in 1933, of advocating German unity.

After a recess, Andre complained to the assembly that a Communist deputy named Garcia assaulted him in a chamber lobby "by blows and kicks." The Communists received the complaints with whistling and banging the tops of their desks.

Then, after Presiding Officer Herriot dismissed the chamber for the day, opposing deputies carried their quarrel into the cloak-rooms and lobbies where several small fights broke out.

Education Costs Money

The Alberta minister of education has announced that school grants to Edmonton and Calgary will be increased by some $65,000 each, that provincial overall expenditures on education will be $9,000,000 in 1947-48 and that 200 scholarships, worth $200 apiece, will be offered to selected high school students who wish to enter the teaching profession.

This is all very commendable and necessary. Both Edmonton and Calgary should have higher grant. The scholarships imposed will no doubt induce some students to become teachers. The increase of $5 to $40 a month in teachers' pensions will be welcome—if inadequate.

But all these new provisions do not touch the basic reason for the shortage of teachers and for the discontent of teachers. It may be possible to get 200 students to go into the teaching profession by offering them scholarships, but they cannot be kept there without an adequate salary year in and year out.

The government of Alberta has shown a realization of the fact that more money must be spent on education by increasing its educational expenditure by $2,500,000 over the past fiscal year.

But education will and must cost a great deal more than it is now costing and the public must come to understand that since education is the greatest municipal, provincial and national asset, it is bound to be one of the big items in every budget.

In a form of government that rests so utterly on the enlightenment of public opinion, educational expenditures must be commensurate with the importance of education, just as teachers' salaries must be commensurate with the importance of the teacher's task and responsibility in the community.

Slowly Is the Word

Edmonton's Cost of Living Committee spoke for a heavy proportion of consumers all over Canada when it urged the Government and the Prices Board to go slowly in taking off price controls which affect at least commodities necessary to a good standard of living.

Probably a much smaller proportion would favor re-establishing controls already removed—and starting again to pay the subsidies which made these particular controls effective without killing production. However this be, the maintenance of existing controls is necessary if family budgets are not to be thrown out of line and another "wave" of wage disputes started.

Canadians generally are not enamoured of official restraints on trade. But they know from former experience that these restraints have operated to preserve the equilibrium between the contents of the pay envelope and the cost of living. They also know that the family expense bill is still abnormal. And they see in the course of events in the United States what could happen here if the controls are dropped before production comes into approximate equality with demand.

For these very practical and very widely understood reasons, consumers are chary about any decontrol measure which affects a commodity known to be still in short supply.

One Was Enough

The leader of the striking miners in the maritime provinces is reported as saying there is a "concerted drive by Big Business to bring back the conditions of the depression years." He was speaking of course directly about the relatively small fraction of the nation's business that is represented by the operators of the maritime coal mines. And speaking in the high excitement induced by strikes and circumstances.

It is impossible to believe that even the mine operators have any desire to go through the gruelling experiences of the last decade. As for Big Business—or little business—longing for any more punishment of that kind, it is sheer nonsense possible only to an over-heated mind.

What, or who, is Big Business? This is a collective term used to denote large corporations. These corporations are owned and controlled by hundreds of thousands of people who have invested their savings in the stocks of manufacturing concerns, commercial enterprises, transportation systems, banks and trust companies. These stockholders are the persons who are charged with wanting to bring back the conditions of the depression years!

Well, what were those conditions? Those were the years when the stocks of the corporations went down to the lowest point in history, when factory doors were boarded up, when there were more clerks in the stores than customers, when railways hauled empty passenger trains and freight trains which didn't pay, when banks had to cut interest rates and mortgage companies were brought under debt-settlement legislation which cancelled interest payments and slashed their loan capital heavily.

Does anybody imagine the stockholders in these concerns want another instalment of such punishment? Assuming that, seventeen years ago, here and there may have been one demented "capitalist" who thought he could profit from a depression, no person with sense in his head can want to see another.

The Expense Forbids

A few days ago the minister of national defence told parliament that any scheme of compulsory military training in Canada was out of the question because of the cost, apart from other considerations.

The report is perhaps outstandingly interesting because it is the fruit of an opinion expressed by General Crerar at the annual meeting of the Canadian Artillery Association. For years the Artillery and other Service associations used to make recommendations without even that much effect.

It will be observed also that the inquiry was principally from the financial standpoint, starting, one infers, from a premise calculated to lead to a desired conclusion.

The fact is that the government is making an earnest effort to lower taxation, and the most accessible places for the axe are where the consequences will be least immediately perceptible. All this is easy to understand. What the man-in-the-street finds harder to grasp is the importance of defence when there is no war.

If as some pretend to suppose Canada is to be the battleground for the next war the importance of having a trained force ready at hand is obvious. But what power will be able to make war within the next twenty years? Or thirty? Therefore granting, for arguments sake, the importance of a trained force, most of a generation trained today or tomorrow would be over age by the time they were needed, if at all. Hence, this seems to be one instance where delay is not dangerous.

The Passing of Prussia

The conference at Moscow confirmed the action already taken by the control authorities to abolish the state of Prussia.

What will Europe be like without Prussia, whose name has been a symbol for oppression, arrogance and cruelty for three hundred years? Prussia has been erased from the map of Europe. But who shall say with certainty that what Prussianism has implied has been erased with it?

The twelve Prussian provinces have been absorbed into Poland, incorporated into the USSR or taken over by the Allies' armies of occupation. Outside Germany there will be few tears shed over the disappearance.

Yet, however we may associate Prussia and Prussianism with all that is sinister and vicious, it will not be forgotten that Prussians, whether aristocrat or peasant, were a proud people, with heads held high because they were Prussians. This pride the mere erasure of their republic will not efface. It is well worth remembering, too, that the arch-criminal Hitler was not a Prussian, nor even a German, but an Austrian.

Does it assure peace that Prussian war lords are dead or that the junkers are liquidated? The danger has not yet passed of the rising of a breed of little half-pint size junkers, who may attempt to seize that power for which they had no opportunity while their masters were alive.

It is a comparatively simple matter to wipe Prussia from the map. But this does not absolve the Allies from careful watchfulness for many a year to come over the smouldering embers of Prussianism.

Good Advice from China

China is about as far away as Mr. Molotov could have gone to find a subject to add to the program of the foreign ministers' conference. Why he wanted the conference to discuss a situation in a country on the other side of the world is open to various interpretations, since the ministers were called together to deal exclusively with the problems of Europe.

One immediate result was a protest from both Nationalist and Communist chiefs in China. They denounced the idea, unless China were represented in the discussion. If Mr. Molotov's hope was to transfer the Big Four conference into a Big Five council he drew a prompt and vigorous response from his nominee.

What the Chinese leaders said amounts to a clear-cut demand that they be left to fight out their differences without alien intervention by word or act. Their agreement on this point was emphatic. It could become a basis for a coalition of the factions. The bogey of external interference has many times in history driven contending groups into alliance.

So far as the western powers are concerned there is no evidence that any of them wants any part in the Chinese quarrel. As the Communist spokesman quite plainly told Russia to stay out, this ought to make the "hands off" decision unanimous on the part of outside governments.

Since China wants nothing but to be left alone, there is not much prospect of good resulting from a discussion of its affairs at Moscow. And the conference has plenty of more pressing problems to grapple with.

If that is done the practical result of the vote in the Edmonton district will be known all over the south by noon, and if it is solid for Hardisty then he is practically sure of election. If on the other hand, the vote is not polled until afternoon the wires will be worked to the fullest extent by his opponents and even if a solid vote is recorded after that hour the chances of success are much reduced. Remember that in this case a vote at nine o'clock is better than two votes any time after twelve.

THE UNSEEN AUDIENCE

Strange U.S. 'Liberals'

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

Ordinary Canadians, like myself, are astonished these days by talk that floods across the border. If the war talk came only from people we learned to classify long ago—like Col. McCormick or W.R. Hearst—we wouldn't take it too seriously. But when it comes from "liberals" it really gets us thinking.

We ask ourselves, "What's happening in the great republic?"

MARTIN Sommers, foreign editor of the Saturday Evening Post, reports this flood of talk in the February 8 issue: "Though recently there has been some surcease from the alarms, you still hear talk of war everywhere you go in this country. You are told PHILPOTT the hour is late, it is five minutes to twelve, war is imminent. . . . That is dangerous, and it is silly."

The New York Times for February 23 reports Archibald MacLeish thus: "Now, almost everyone either in direct terms, or in cowardly terms of indirection, talks of war with Russia. The will to peace is undermined by that talk."

There is no chance of peace, he declared, if "we fritter our energies away in the language of fear and apprehension." This trend, he asserted, was gaining ground among "liberals."

THE WORD "liberal" means different things in different English-speaking countries. Recently by a group of self-styled American "liberals" cabled a message of support to Mr. Bevin, whose foreign policy was then under heavy fire in Parliament.

The names of those "liberals" surely made the British blink. Among them was Bishop Manning, who had led the crusade to have Bertrand Russell banned from a New York university assignment. Both Henry Luce and his wife, Clare, were included. About the one internationally classified "liberal" was Dorothy Thompson. Canadian readers might describe Miss Thompson as an "ex-liberal" because her writings have recently been astonishing, to put it mildly.

IN A RECENT column Miss Thompson referred to six headlines in the news—one of which concerned the MacLeish talk against war talk by "liberals."

The paragraph which seemed to me to indicate Miss Thompson's present drift was this: "The six groups who advocate a federation of the world declared they represented 16,000 active members. . . . As far as I could see, they represented no one from the 'world' but Americans."

Surely that is a glaring example of the misleadership that American "liberals" are giving the American people today. The obvious implication of Miss Thompson's blast is that nobody in the world but a few thousand visionaries in the U.S.A. is in favor of a world parliament to make world peace law.

Miss Thompson ignores the most popular statement made by Ernest Bevin since he became British Foreign Minister. In the fall of 1945, Bevin plainly declared that he would "sit down with anybody from any party in any country" to lay plans for a genuine World Assembly. He was enthusiastically supported in this by Mr. Eden.

On the occasion of our own Canadian Prime Minister's last birthday, all three leaders of Canada's national political parties—Liberal, Conservative and Socialist alike—supported in Parliament the principle of genuine international federation—as distinguished from what we have now in the United Nations—that is, uneasy partnership of mutually suspicious powers.

INSTEAD OF being the leader for actual international federation, the United States is most lagged in this movement.

The new constitution of France specifically agrees to whatever limitation of national sovereignty may be necessary to establish a supranational law above the level of each nation's authority.

Paragraph 16 of the preamble reads: "On conditions of reciprocity France consents to the limitations of sovereignty necessary to the organization and defence of peace."

It is true that the Soviet, and her supporters, has been extremely hostile to any move for any kind of international consolidation which could be used to gang up western nations against her.

But the way to overcome that objection is to quit thinking and talking in negative terms against Russia and begin instead to organize the nations positively—by peace for peace—to end not only attack but fear of attack by any nation on any other.

Codifying Civil Rights—III

BY J. H. GRAY

Ottawa: Someone, the reference eludes me, has described freedom of the press as a peculiarly Anglo-Saxon phenomenon. Certain even a cursory reading of history shows that efforts to extend this fundamental democratic freedom outside Anglo-Saxon countries have encountered heavy going. Because freedom of the press is so intimately associated with freedom of speech, freedom of thought, freedom of religion and equality before the law it is easy to lose sight of the fact that freedom of the press is the youngest of the freedoms.

Substantial measures of the other freedoms were enjoyed by the people while the press was still subject to control. This control, however, was abolished in Britain long before it was removed elsewhere. Freedom of the press really stems from the refusal of parliament, in 1681, to renew the Licensing Act. Control of the press, by special laws, persisted in France, however, until 1821.

IN THE struggle to obtain freedom of expression in writing it became necessary, to end abuses of the press and against the press, to have special laws on libel. The objective of these laws was to enable the press to enjoy full freedom to report the news and make fair comment upon it, and to safeguard the rights of citizens to protection from unfair attacks by the press. So it came to pass that while there is little statute law in Canada or the United Kingdom to safeguard the rights of freedom of speech, thought, and assembly, some statutory safeguards of the freedom of the press have been enacted.

The freedom of the press, in Canada, is covered in the main by two sections of the criminal code. Under the law on defamation the right to publish criticism of the government and the constitution is set forth. The law on defamatory libel explicitly exempts publication of reports of proceedings in the courts, in parliament, and fair reports of public meetings as violation of the law on libel.

MOREOVER, the freedom of the press has been supported in the common law of Canada by a decision of the supreme court of Canada. This decision was in the case of the Alberta Social Credit legislation, and it is to be found in the Supreme Court decisions of 1938.

In 1937 the province of Alberta passed three acts in an effort to bring Social Credit into operation. These were the Bank Taxation Act, The Credit of Alberta Regulation Act and the Accurate News and Information Act. All were held to be ultra vires by the Supreme Court.

Under the third act, newspapers, would have been required by law to publish any statement ordered by the chairman of the Social Credit Board relating to any policy or activity of the government. Newspapers would have been required to provide the board with complete information on all sources of news, if the board made the request, and to provide the information within 24 hours. Failure to obey instructions would have resulted in the imposition of penalties, including suspension of publication.

THE JUDGMENT of the Supreme court in this case is germane to the whole question of a bill of rights. Following is a quotation of pertinent paragraphs from it.

The statute (British North America Act) contemplates a parliament working under the influence of public opinion and public discussion. There can be no controversy that such institutions derive their efficacy from free public discussion of affairs from criticism and answers and counter criticism, from attack upon policy and administration and defence and counter-attack; from the freest and fullest analysis and examination from every point of view of political proposals. This is a signal true in respect to the discharge by ministers of the crown of their responsibilities to parliament, by members of parliament of their duties to the electors, and by the electors them-

Who Pays?

By HARPER PROSE, M.L.A.

Under the tax-transfer agreement the Dominion government will pay Alberta $14,800,000 this year for the rental of the province's rights in the personal, corporation and succession duties tax fields. It is surprising the number of people who look at this as "manna from heaven."

Some take the point of view that with all this extra income the province will be able to perform all kinds of wonders.

What people forget is that no matter who spends the money it has to be collected in the form of taxes. Too few people seem to realize this fact. Far too many people today have fallen into the habit of saying "the government should assume the cost." What they forget is that when the government assumes the cost the taxpayers will foot the bill. Even if the government borrows the money the taxpayers get stuck immediately for carrying charges on the debt and before it can be paid off the money must be collected in the form of taxes of one kind or another.

THE TOTAL payment to the provinces under the tax-transfer agreements will average around $250,000,000 per year. This will be paid by taxes which will be paid by the people of Canada in direct taxes such as the income tax, and indirect taxes such as excise and customs duties. That is why part of the money received by the provinces must be used to lighten the provincial and municipal tax loads.

A friend of mine suggested the other day that for six months newspapers, public speakers and all persons making statements should be forced to substitute the words "taxpayers of Canada" for "the government" every time expenditures were mentioned. This might not be such a bad way of impressing on people that they aren't getting something for nothing when the government pays any bills.

When we ask for subsidies we are asking for the taxpayers to make payments to one group in the nation. When we ask for increased expenditures on public works we are asking the taxpayers to take on new expenses. When we ask for increased social services we are asking the taxpayers to assume additional levies. It is important that we should remember this. The thing to do the next time somebody suggests that the government should do this or that or the other thing in addition to what they are now doing is to ask yourself: "Am I prepared to pay extra taxes in order to permit this?"

OUR NATIONAL income last year was in the neighborhood of $11,000,000,000. The Dominion government collected something like $3,000,000,000 in taxes. Then provincial governments collected well over $1,000,000,000. On top of this there are municipal taxes to be considered. All in all probably at least half of our national income went to our various governments in the form of taxes. The only "levelling tax" was the income tax which was less than $1,000,000,000 on individual incomes—much less.

Therefore out of every dollar you earned nearly half of it went to pay taxes of one kind or another. This is how the things governments did for you were paid for. Think this one over carefully.

The Bulletin's Readers Say:

PLANNED CONSUMPTION

Editor, Bulletin—Under the above heading in your paper of Feb. 22 Mr. Nichols advocates "putting the cart before the horse" in our economic system. If we lived where bananas, coconuts, dates etc. grew on trees, production would be no problem. But in our parallel of latitude production is the problem. But let the government "finance consumption" pass. "Bills of Rights" and see that everyone had a "right to" and "tickets" (money) for the consumption of plenty, then who would produce at all?

Under our present system emphasizing production we are still short of butter, woolen goods, houses (food, clothing and shelter). The issue of more money for consumption would not necessarily increase the supply of men to milk cows, or look after sheep or work in lumber woods with the snow up to their coat tails. As the government gave out more and more money (Basic Dividends) for consumption there would be less and less goods produced to consume? The producers of Britain now have control of the money making machinery but would the issue of more money in Britain "to buy back all the products" produce sufficient food, clothing, shelter or an adequate coal supply there? People in Britain and Canada have the money to buy the things they are short of. The shortage is not in money for consumption but in labor for production. Let a government issue "notes" (dollars) sufficient for all to vote for what they would like to consume, and who would produce anything to consume?

especially repairs, labor and materials.

Furthermore, the pegging of these rents, and the fact that it is impossible to get a renter out, and which has made it also most impossible to sell, as a purchaser would want possession, and a purchaser who might want a place as an investment would not care to buy at these pegged prices.

Now we quite agree that the returned men should be taken care of, but we claim that it is the duty of the government to see that they be taken care of, not place it all on the shoulders of the property owners. The writer personally knows of several rooms in this city, but the owners are reluctant to rent them as they don't care to take on any more trouble.

We would also like you to explain why commercial rents should be raised 25 per cent while the rent of a widow who was left with a home and nothing more should not receive the same. Just another case of favoring the man with the money.

In the sense that he can recognize No. 1 Northern when he sees it, the Progressive Conservative leader, Mr. John Bracken may know wheat. But when it comes to marketing it, he comes perilously close to representing the private grain interests to whose clutches the western farmer hopes may never be forced to return.

Mr. Bracken's latest effort is his attack on the plan, embodied in amendments to the Canadian Wheat Board Act, to place surplus profits from the sale of wheat in a five-year pool.

That step follows logically in the wake of the wheat agreement reached last year between Canada and Great Britain. In essence it is in line

Barber Confesses Assassination Try

MANILA, (AP)—A 50-year-old Manila barber told police and newspapermen Tuesday he had hidden a hand grenade in a bag of peanuts, then hurled it at President Manuel A. Roxas Monday night in a futile assassination attempt.

A Filipino photographer, the chief of the presidential palace guards, and five others were wounded by flying fragments, but the president was unhurt.

Police identified the barber as Julio Guillen Cuervo. He said he blamed Roxas for current economic hardships in the islands.

Debate Merits Pooling Railways

OTTAWA, (CP)—Sharp argument over the question of pooling Canadian National, Railway and Canadian Pacific Railway services to effect economies developed Tuesday before the board of transport commissions in the railway freight inquiry.

Counsel for the railways clashed repeatedly with provincial counsel over the issue, and a series of objections and disputes was touched off as Col. J. L. Ralston, Maritimes counsel, sought information on the point.

The board declared it did not propose to enter into an inquiry on whether the two railways had done all they could to effect economies.

"The le beyond the scope of the present inquiry," Chief Commissioner J. A. Cross declared.

Col. Ralston declared he wanted to find out whether the C.P.R. could save money through pooling trains with the C.N.R., and he held this angle was highly relevant to the investigation. Objections by railway counsel were overruled.

Passenger revenues of the C.P.R. were expected to drop by $8,000,000 this year, the board was told Monday.

Ian Warren of Montreal, assistant passenger traffic manager, estimated gross income in the passenger department would be $37,000,000 against $45,381,000 last year, and he described the 1947 estimate as a "generous" one.

Biggest drop the C.P.R. expected to suffer, Mr. Warren said, was that of about $8,000,000 in military traffic. Another anticipated loss was $5,000,000 in civilian traffic due to increased automobile, bus and airline competition.

Soviet Atom Plan Rejected by U.S.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., (AP)—The United Nations security council by unanimous vote Monday night sent the whole complicated atomic energy control question back to the U.N. atomic energy commission after the United States rejected Soviet Russia's detailed atomic plan.

The council thus closed its books for the time being on one of its most controversial subjects and directed the atomic commission to prepare a treaty on atomic control.

It called for a report before the next meeting of the general assembly in September.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian delegate who had fired bitter broadsides at the United States plan for atomic control, lost a stubborn fight to whittle down a United States resolution sending the issue back to the commission. This body is composed of the members of the security council, plus Canada. Gromyko then voted with the other 10 delegates in a rare display of unanimity on the council.

The United States in its rejection of the detailed Russian plan said that they were not constructive, might even lead to war and lacked the minimum security needs the United States has demanded.

'Bribery' Charged In Police Probe

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Ald. Charles E. Thompson Monday charged an "inquisition" was held behind closed doors and certain persons were "bribed" during the recent police investigation and shakeup which resulted in Chief Constable A. G. McNeill and 18 other officers being discharged.

Ald. Thompson demanded that the police commission which was responsible for the investigation, meet with the city council this week to discuss the issue.

"I hear peculiar rumors that some people were promised immunity if they gave information harmful to others during the police investigation," he said.

Mayor G. C. McGeer replied sharply that the three-man police commission, of which he is a member, was not obligated to meet with city council.

Upshot of the stormy session was a decision to place the matter before the city council Tuesday when it was expected the police commission would be formally requested to meet the council.

Fabulous Promoter Arrested in East

JOLLETTE, Que., (CP)—Provincial police Monday arrested an unidentified Montreal dishwasher who called himself Count Guy George Gouin de Pontenailles. "Founded" a new industry here, purchased 33 city lots, hired almost 100 "employees," and left a trail of worthless cheques.

Police, declining to reveal the man's name, said he was "not a swindler but a man with big ideas."

He was arrested after Jollette police were flooded with complaints from merchants and "employees" who found his cheques worthless.

Until recently a dishwasher in Montreal, the "count" was negotiating with Jollette for the purchase of the hotel in which he was registered.

Meeting a city official, the stranger confided he had made $8,000,000 during the war, sent the money to Montreal, and was now ready to establish various industries in Jollette, including a plant to process rubber from his Brazil plantation.

The official was reported so pleased he offered his home as temporary office for the new firm. His wife and children were sent to a Montreal hotel as the "count" offered a $175 a month for the house until suitable offices were located.

Needing space for a large factory, the "count" offered to buy 33 lots from the city which called a special meeting to grant his request.

A snowstorm occurred as the men started work clearing the lots so the "count" had a steamshovel brought from Montreal and hired 15 trucks which cleared snow from streets. No snow was cleared from city streets next day. All were working for the stranger at $2.50 an hour.

Raps Exclusion Of Small Nations

OTTAWA, (CP)—Dr. Pierre Gauthier, Lib. Portneuf, said Monday in the commonsense first major debate since the end of the Second Great War was the exclusion of small nations from discussions on major peace treaties.

Speaking during continued throne speech debate, Dr. Gauthier said he felt Canada was entitled to more consideration from United States, France and the United Kingdom.

Victor Quelch, S. C. Acadia said the people of Canada were uneasy about the future, with a good number fearing a depression would be brought about in a few years by a lack of purchasing power.

Anthony Hlynka, S. C. Vegreville, said the income of Albertans was reduced by the high freight rates they had to pay on goods imported into and exported from the province.

He suggested a royal commission should be appointed to investigate the whole freight rate structure. If this step was not taken, the Social Credit group was unalterably opposed to any increase in rates.

'Teen-Agers Try To Outwit Petrillo

HALIFAX, (CP)—Militant teen-agers Tuesday thought up a new wrinkle to get around James C. Petrillo and the American Federation of Labor (A.F.L.) when Halifax local he refused permission for Tri-Teen Council talent to appear on a radio program without union musicians standing by.

T.T.C. representatives decided to approach a Halifax radio station with a proposal that the five minutes of their proposed hour-long program, which was to have been devoted to teen-age musical talent, be used for sacred music by the young musicians.

"T.T.C. spokesmen said they did not expect the union would oppose the presentation of sacred music. They added, however, that the radio station would probably have the last word on their new angle."

A.F.M. officials were not available for comment on the T.T.C.'s threat move in the month-long feud over the program scheduled for March 22.

Americans Observe Strictest Security

NEW YORK, (CP)—The New York Times, in a Moscow dispatch, said Tuesday on the assumption there is no security in Moscow against eavesdropping and wiretapping, even inside the United States embassy chancery and residence, the American delegation to the Big Four council meeting has established its own "iron curtain."

The Times said the action is probably without precedent and it likely will mean that the strictest security regulations "ever to prevail at any peacetime diplomatic gathering has been clamped down on Secretary of State Marshall's advisers."

The American delegation was told in a printed document, drawn up six days ago, The Times said, that:

"It must be assumed that there is no security outside the office and rooms of Spasso house and the chancery. And not even these rooms are completely secure. Telephone calls, regardless of the topics discussed, must be avoided whenever possible."

Security regulations have been issued to every delegation member, told him to discuss nothing concerning official business except when in the embassy or residence, to leave no papers around and to burn all "trash," The Times added.

Jury Blames Gas In South Explosion

CALGARY, (CP)—Natural gas which allegedly entered the basement of a residence and was ignited by a match struck by Allan McMeekin was held responsible in the verdict of a coroner's jury Monday for the explosion which destroyed the one-storey dwelling Feb. 13 and took two lives.

The verdict said evidence given indicated that natural gas lines were defective in the vicinity of the house.

Mrs. Dorothy Jean McMeekin, 19

was killed outright by the blast. Mrs. Elizabeth Barker, 70, died almost four days later. McMeekin was the lone survivor of the tragedy and is recovering in hospital.

Commenting on the jury's verdict, Coroner Dr. George R. Johnson stated that in his opinion "there was plenty of evidence to show that seepage of natural gas from lines around the house resulted in the explosion." He termed the evidence "overpowering."

JACK ADAMS

Red Wing Coach May "Give Up"

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Jack Adams, who serves as combination manager and coach for Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, may give up the bench duties next season, a club official said Tuesday.

Fred Huber, public relations director of the National Hockey League, said the veteran hockey figure hasn't definitely made up his mind about the matter but right now feels that this will be his last season as coach.

HUBER SAID Adams would like to give more time to his managerial position which would include more scouting and supervising of the big league team's farm system. The Detroit Times has quoted Adams in a New York story as saying this will be his final season as coach. The story said Tom Ivan, present coach of Indianapolis Capitals of the American Hockey League, would take over Adams' coaching duties.

Reports Answer Members' Queries

Speaker Peter Dawson ruled in the Legislature Tuesday afternoon over the protests of Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) that ministers should not be required to answer questions from members when the information sought could be found in readily available accounts and reports.

THE QUESTIONS asked by the CCF group in this case were concerned with the number of licenses issued by the government since 1935 and also asked for amounts spent in road work over a period of about 12 years.

Premier Ernest Manning protested that the license question was too indefinite and Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, pointed out that information sought about the highways could be found in the public accounts.

Name City Man For Oslo Parley

Les D. Wedman, Edmonton Journal reporter, has been selected one of the six Canadian YMCA delegates to the world youth conference to be held in Oslo, Norway, July 22 to 31. It was announced Tuesday by Ralph Waldeen, young people's secretary of the Edmonton YMCA.

MR. WEDMAN will represent Alberta and British Columbia at the conference which will be attended by an estimated 1,600 delegates from 73 countries.

It is the first post-war international conference on youth problems, and delegates will be recruited from YMCA and YWCA membership, and from churches.

He is past president of the Phalanx club of the YMCA, a member of the young people's committee and has served on the publicity committee of the "Y".

He will leave for Norway in June, and will return to Canada sometime in August depending on sailing schedules.

Alta. to Boost Tax on Gasoline

Amendments to the Fuel Oil Tax Act to make effective the projected increase of two cents in the provincial gasoline tax appeared in a bill brought before the Alberta Legislature and given first reading Tuesday afternoon.

THIS BOOSTS the tax of seven cents per gallon on all but agricultural gasoline to nine cents, picking up two of three cents of the tax being dropped by the federal government April 1.

Other amendments to the fuel oil tax provide that a minimum fine of $10 may be imposed for the improper use of colored agricultural gas, and that the maximum fine for first offence be $25.

For each subsequent offence a minimum fine of $25 and a maximum of $50 may be imposed.

The present act sets no minimum and the maximum for subsequent offences $50.

Public Accounts Committee to Sit

A meeting of the public accounts committee will be called Friday morning, March 21, Dr. V. L. Robinson (SC-Medicine Hat), chairman of the committee, assured the Legislature Tuesday afternoon.

Following a resolution presented by A. Wray (Ind. SC-Banff-Cochrane).

MR. WRAY'S resolution said there had been no meetings of the committee since 1943 and suggested that particular attention might be paid to accounts of the provincial marketing board and its subsidiary as well as the workings of the treasury branches.

When he tried to outline the reason for his resolution, Mr. Wray was called to order by the Speaker on the grounds that he could only talk of the principle involved in his request.

"You don't need to make a speech, we'll support it," called a voice from the government side. While he was speaking government members had called "agreed! agreed! agreed!"

Since the legislative program was filled until that time, Dr. Robinson told the house he could not call the meeting until March 21.

Frederic Chopin introduced the free use of the thumb on the black keys which revolutionized all piano playing.

Woman Reports Revolver Taken

The revolver alleged to have been brandished before two taxi drivers by Michael Tychkowsky, city taxi driver, about 2:30 a.m. Saturday morning has been reported to city police as stolen from Mrs. Evelyn Lobb, 11845 93 street.

Mrs. Lobb said the revolver was stolen from her front room table between midnight Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday. She said that on the morning in question and prior to 2:30 a.m. Tychkowsky drove her home in the taxi from a party in the Highlands district.

Tychkowsky appeared in court Saturday morning charged with illegal possession of firearms and was remanded until March 14 with bail set at $2,000. The accused told police that he had obtained the .32 revolver from a woman in lieu of fare.

The Alberta Wheat Pool is trying to make certain that reserves accumulated through its first few years of operation remain in the hands of pool customers. M. M. Porter, K.C. Calgary, wheat pool solicitor, told the committee on private bills on Monday morning in the Legislative building. The bill finally was reported.

MR. PORTER appeared on behalf of a bill before the committee which amends provisions of the Wheat pool Act to make it compulsory for holders of original certificates to surrender them in certain circumstances.

Where these reserves are held as part of assets of an estate, in which the beneficiaries are not farmers, or where the holder of participating certificates has passed the age of 65 years and has retired from farming, are some of the examples of persons who will not be allowed to retain these assets.

Membership of the pool, is most anxious, Mr. Porter explained, that these assets should be held only by those who are active pool members.

THE BILL before the committee set out the order in which these shares in pool operation would be picked up.

They would later be sold to participating members in the pool organization.

Pool officers feared accumulation of these shares in the hands of persons who might wreck the pool program.

Turnley System "No Improvement"

Investigations which extended from September, 1945, to June, 1946, disclosed that the Turnley method of teaching of reading was no more effective than the methods now being used in the curriculum. Hon. R. Earl Ansley, minister of education, disclosed in answer to a question in the Legislature on Tuesday afternoon.

THE MINISTER outlined the expenses involved when the government undertook the survey, which were not great.

In answer to another question, Premier Ernest Manning told W. J. Williams (Vet.-Edmonton) that "voluntary contributions" made by the employees of the Alberta Liquor Control Board during the depression years, would not be returned, since these employees are civil servants. The veteran had asked the question since employees of the Workmen's Compensation Board had received the return of their "contributions."

Employees of the Workmen's Compensation Board are not civil servants.

Resolution Asks Petroleum Probe

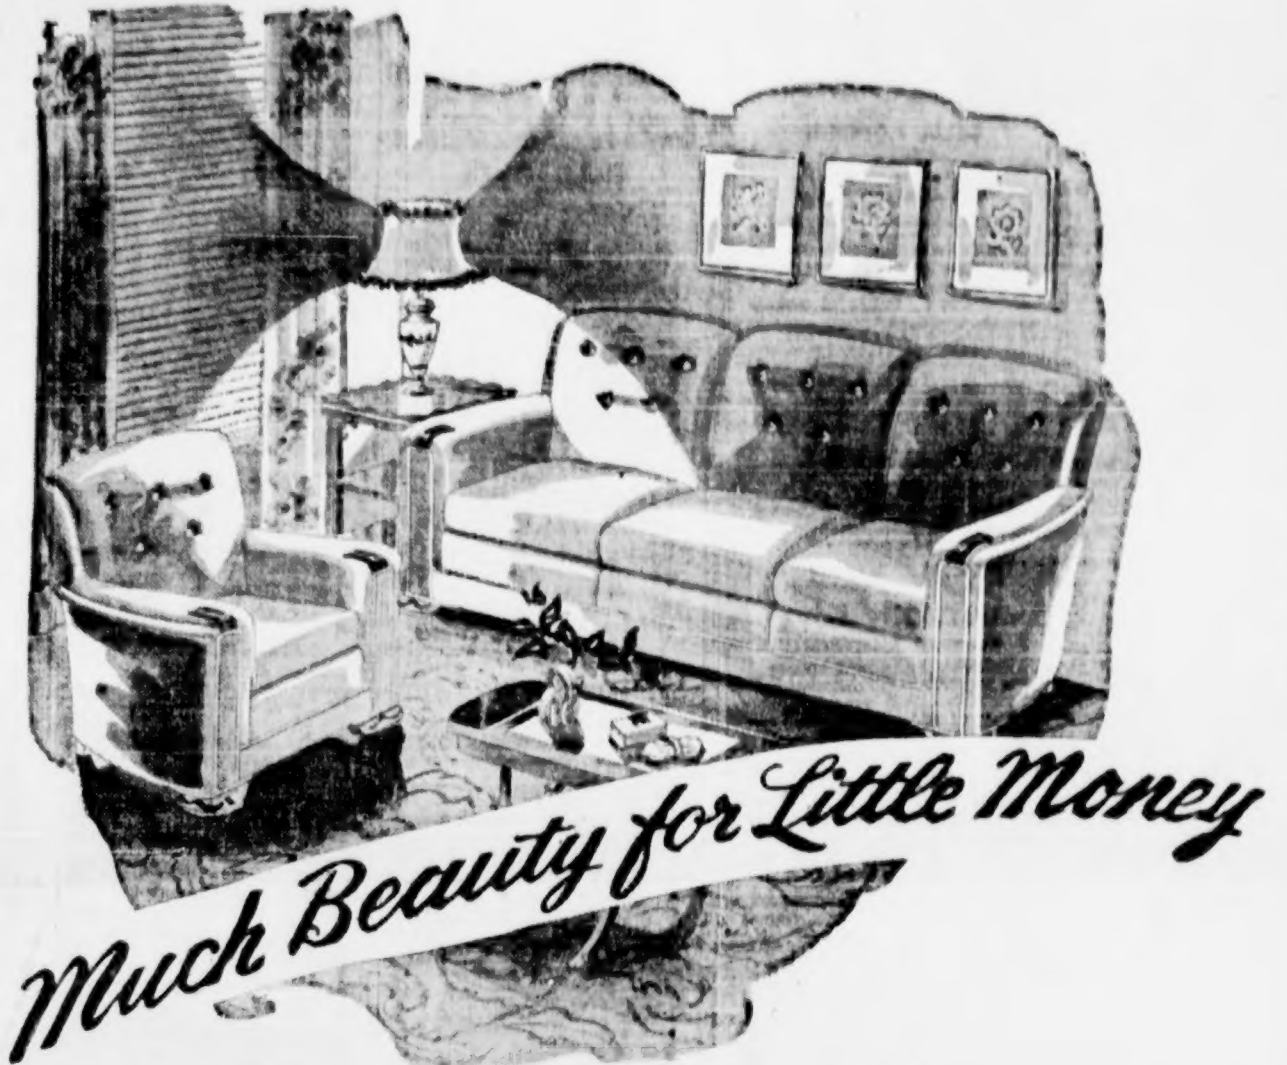

In presenting a resolution requesting that the government institute a board to inquire into all phases of the petroleum industry, A. J. E. Liesemer (CCF-Calgary) said in the Legislature Tuesday immediate action of the government was necessary to achieve anything in the matter of aiding those who, he believed, would soon be paying a higher price for gasoline.

HE ADMITTED that governments needed revenue but said "since we haven't that glorious thing called Social Credit and since we have no state-owned industries from which to derive revenue" the only source left was taxation.

He supported his arguments by quoting from an editorial in a Calgary newspaper which predicted a two-cent rise in gasoline prices.

Debate on the resolution was adjourned by Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines.

As well as being an anesthetic, chloroform is also administered internally as a stimulant, anodyne, and as an antidote for strychnine poisoning.

Lack of Beef Is Foreseen

Present indications reveal that there will be a marked scarcity of high grade beef on the market for the next two or three months due to weather having interfered with delivery of feed, R. J. Dinning, Calgary, president of Burns and Company, said in Edmonton Wednesday.

Mr. Dinning said a large proportion of beef cattle are not in finished shape for processing and probably would not be until they spent some time on pasture.

Although at this time of the year there is a seasonal slump in delivery of hogs, the hog run was much lower than at this time last year, said Mr. Dinning.

He expressed the opinion that farmers would be making a "serious error" if they continued to neglect the supply of hogs for the overseas market.

Loyal Edmonton Dinner Planned

Members of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment officers' mess will hold a regimental dinner at the Prince of Wales Armory Friday. A reception will be held commencing at 7 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

ONE OF THE many post-war aims of the regiment is to get in touch with all officers who have served with the regiment from Jan. 4, 1915 onward, and there has been a committee hard at work checking nominal rolls in an effort to trace all officers of the regiment.

Col. W. T. Cromb, DSO, commanding officer is issuing an invitation to all officers who served with the regiment, whether they have been contacted by the committee or not, to be present at the dinner Friday.

The regiment is proposing to have three or four mess dinners each year, and to reopen The Loyal Edmonton regiment mess, and Camp Harris at Winterburn.

On Thursday, March 13, a concert and smoker for NCO's and men of the regiment will be held. The regiment band will be on hand to supply music, and a number of men of the regiment will take part in the program.

Premier Unaware Of Western State

If there is a movement under way in western Canada to create a federation of the four western provinces, Alberta's Premier Ernest Manning is unaware of such a project.

Premier Manning told the British United Press in Edmonton today that he knows "nothing personally" of such a movement.

The Social Credit member for Jasper - Edson, Walter Kuhl, made this statement in parliament last night when calling for a revision of the Canadian constitution to clarify the rights of provincial and federal governments.

Kuhl said there would be no legal power to stop western Canadians from setting up a federation with their own constitution if they wished to do so.

NEW JUDGE: Judge S. C. S. Kerr, who was appointed recently a judge of the District Court of northern Alberta, was sworn in Wednesday by Chief Justice Horace Harvey in that office at a ceremony held in the court of appeal, and which was attended by a large number of barristers and the general public. Congratulations were extended by S. M. Field, K.C., on behalf of the Law Society of Alberta, and by P. J. Lazarowich, on behalf of the Edmonton Bar Association. Administering the oath of office Chief Justice Harvey recalled that 60 years ago he had been articled to Judge Kerr's father.

Accidentally Shot

Gordon Plausen, 13-year-old resident of Newcastle, near Drumheller, was accidentally shot with a .22 rifle, Monday, and died in a Drumheller hospital Tuesday morning, according to RCMP. Police said at the time of the accident the rifle was in the hands of a 15-year-old companion, John Orris. The shooting occurred in a home in Newcastle.

Motion Said "Ill-Advised" Municipal-Provincial Survey Plan Turned Down by House

"It would be ill-advised for this assembly to tie the hands of the government at this stage to any particular machinery."

WITH THESE WORDS Premier Ernest Manning condemned an amended resolution introduced into the Legislature Tuesday afternoon, dealing with the problem of provincial-municipal relations.

The resolution was introduced by Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) and suggested that a committee be set up to conduct a survey on the problem of provincial-municipal relations and that the committee contain representatives from the Alberta Association of Rural Municipalities, the Alberta Union of Municipalities and the government with an independent chairman. The resolution stated that in the Throne Speech the government had undertaken a survey of these relations.

The amendment to the resolution was introduced by Andrew Davison (Ind.-Calgary) and suggested that the committee consist of the minister of municipal affairs, a chairman to be appointed by the government and one representative from the opposition.

City Woman Hears Of Mother's Death

Mrs. W. E. Thompson, 10035 88 avenue, has received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. J. J. Parish, in Pine City, Minnesota. She was 92 years and 11 months old.

Her husband, the Rev. J. J. Parish, and eldest son, S. L. Parish, predeceased her.

$50 Old Age Pension Urged by South MLA

The government which could find more than two and one half billion dollars to give away to Great Britain surely also could find enough money to grant old age pensions of at least $50 a month, E. O. Duke (SC-Pincher Creek-Crows Nest) told the Legislature during the debate on the budget, Tuesday afternoon. He was the only speaker on the budget for the afternoon.

Noted Scholar To Visit City

Noted mountaineer, English educationist, John Lawrence Longland, will be an Edmonton visitor on March 26 and 27, according to Dr. W. H. Swift, deputy minister of education.

WHILE HERE Mr. Long will address the students of the faculty of education, University of Alberta; students of Westlawn High School, the Rotary club, the Edmonton Federation of Home and School and the Edmonton branch of the Alpine club of Canada. He will also be entertained at a luncheon arranged by the Alberta Teachers' Association.

Mr. Longland was appointed county education officer for Dorset in October 1942, after an educational career which commenced at the Cathedral Choir school, Worcester and which led him to Kings' School also at Worcester, to Cambridge as By-Fellow of Magdalen College, where he was also librarian of the library. In 1929 he was made exchange fellow at Albert University, Konigsberg, Germany for one year.

RETURNING TO England he held an important series of administrative posts in educational work and interested himself in welfare and other forms of social service.

He has been interested too, in mountaineering since 1925 and in 1933 was a member of the Mount Everest expedition. Later he became a member of the British East Greenland Expedition.

IN CLOSING he deplored the growing public debts of the country and outlined expansion of the debt from the point of confederation to the present.

This growth in taxation indicated the reason for the desire of government members for monetary reform.

At the end of 1946, 15 air routes were in operation in India, with a total air mileage of 11,800 miles.

See Early Finish Separate Schools

At its March meeting held Monday, the Edmonton Separate School Board received progress reports on the building projects now nearing completion. It was advised by the heating contractors that the steam boilers for the Saint Andrews and 92nd Street Schools, delivery of which has been delayed for several months, would be available in the near future. In view of this an effort will be made to have these schools ready for occupation after the Easter holidays.

Pending more definite information in regard to the 1947 financial situation, the board deferred consideration on the 1947 building program and teacher salary schedules.

The monthly report of the superintendent showed 3,739 pupils to have been in attendance in February being 119 pupils more than a year ago.

U. of A. Students Arrange Field Day

University agriculture students will hold a field day on Saturday at the university farm, when undergraduates in the faculty of agriculture will compete in the various fields of agriculture.

Prizes will be offered for competitions in beef cattle, dairy, and swine judging, plant and seed identification, barley judging, and field crops. Awards to winners will be made at the agriculture club banquet to be held in honor of graduating students on Tuesday, March 18.

Sponsors are Northwest Line Elevators, Western Stockyards Limited, Swift's, Edmonton City Dairy, Canada Packers, Canada Malting Company Limited, National Grain Company Limited, Alberta Seed Growers Association Limited and Gainer's.

HE POINTED OUT that he was not finding fault with the senior government for its assistance to Great Britain, but he cried "shame on the Ottawa government" for its meagre pensions. The pension situation was to be reviewed this year by the federal government and he hoped for a definite increase.

He also pleaded for pensions for miners at 30 years. Their life was a hazardous one, he pointed out, and their produce was vital. After telling of the production of coal in Alberta and in the Maritimes he advanced the slogan "Canadian Coals for Canadian Homes" and "Canadian Coals for Canadian Industry" as a guide toward a needed national coal policy.

He pleaded also for the improvement of existing highways originally designed for tourist traffic in his own constituency.

TWO GAPS of the Trans-Canada highway remain ungraded, ungravelled and unsafe, he said. "A disgrace to Canada, a disgrace to Alberta." These are the gaps from Crows Nest Pass to Coleman and from Bellevue to Pincher Creek.

Turning to the problem of liquor, Mr. Duke said "The churches have gone to sleep" and asked that the minister of education and other authorities took some steps toward temperance education.

He also pleaded for reform of the prison system, which he called the iron bar system. It has accomplished nothing worthwhile he said and outlined the success of the work of Father Flanagan's "boys town."

He commended the federal government for the institution of legal Canadian citizenship.

IN CLOSING he deplored the growing public debts of the country and outlined expansion of the debt from the point of confederation to the present.

This growth in taxation indicated the reason for the desire of government members for monetary reform.

New Group Makes Debut

Teen-Age Choral Society Scores Success in Concert

Under the direction of Mrs. D. S. McEachern, the Edmonton Teen-Age Choral Society made its debut in a concert at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday night. There will be a repeat performance tonight.

AS ETHELBERG Nevin's memorable song "Mighty Lak" a Rose was heard, the stage curtains parted and this city's latest choral group made its bow. The selection of the evening, "Nevin song" as a theme was most appropriate. For there on the stage stood a group of teenage girls, bent on making music for music's sake, attired in their best party dresses and looking, individually and collectively "mighty lak" a rose.

It was an auspicious debut and one that pleased a large audience. The girls were gathered more or less informally on the stage, but arrayed in formal gowns with individual corsages, and looking their very best, it was quite a rare as to whether the greater appeal was aural or ocular.

THE CHORISTERS sang well, in spite of the fact that a week ago, their ranks had been decimated by colds and influenza. There was both freshness and charm in their singing. There was variety in dynamics and the attention to nuance was meticulous. At all times there was both sweetness and spontaneity. There were some shortcomings in a technical way, but they were few and far between.

Mrs. McEachern, a tested and experienced director, merited warm praise for the splendid performance. She had lavished much work on the preparation of the program and she had the girls trained to the point where they responded readily to her varying interpretive wishes.

The program included Star Dust.

Mining Industry Finds Bonanza In Surpluses of Canol Project

Disposition of surplus materials of the $136,000,000 Canol project at Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, is providing Canada's mining industry with a bonanza in bargain ranging from idiosyncratic Quonset huts and railroad cars and track to thousands of hard-to-get tools and generators sufficient to supply electric power for towns of 5,000 population.

ACCORDING to Harold G. Hutchings, president of Beaulieu Yellowknife Gold Mines at Yellowknife, the hard-to-get items offered will advance development of many of the mining properties in Northwest Territories by at least several years.

Mr. Hutchings' company has spent $57,000 on the Yukon bargain counter and is now hauling out by plane and caterpillar train two igloos that will house more than 100 workers, a 20,000 gallon fuel storage tank and two 3,000 gallon water supply tanks, one 5,000 gallon compressed air tank, 15 tons of explosives, motors, tools and the main prize, a new $250,000 diesel electric generating plant, capable of supplying all electrical needs for mines and a population of 5,000 people.

THE BARGAIN HUNTERS now face the problem of transportation through hundreds of roadless miles through bush, over muskeg and lakes, between Whitehorse and Yellowknife. The rush is on to get as much in before break-up by way of plane and "cat trains"—hauled without benefit of highways by large caterpillar tractors.

The Uscan Engineering DCS, and smaller bush planes, are also helping move a good part of what is left of Canol into the Yellowknife mining district. According to Mr. Hutchings, most of the materials will be delivered before the ice and muskeg soften late in April and the rest will come up the Mackenzie river and through the lake chains by barge.

OTHER BIG BUYERS are Giant Yellowknife, Negus, Thompson-Lumark, Discovery, Diversified Creatum Gold Mines whose buyers and expeditors are still at Whitehorse and Camp Canol closing deals and getting their purchases on the road.

A condition of sale is that items cannot be resold and must be used in Yukon or Northwest Territories. Canol was built to refine crude oil pipelined 650 miles from Norman Wells, Northwest Territories, and provide a remote gasoline supply in the event wells in the United States were bombed. The refinery, at Whitehorse, one of the largest in the world, was moved from Corpus Christi, Texas and came into the Arctic piecemeal over Alcan Highway.

"Manna from Heaven" say the Yellowknife mining men as they fight against time to get their bargains moved before spring.

Milder Spell Is Forecast

Best weather news for Edmonton in recent weeks is contained in the forecast Wednesday by the weather office which calls for a high temperature Thursday of 30 degrees above zero. Low tonight is expected to be zero.

Clear skies becoming cloudy Wednesday evening and remaining so all Thursday, with light winds increasing to south 15 miles an hour Thursday afternoon, are forecast.

High temperature Tuesday was 17 degrees above zero at 3 p.m. and the low was four below at 11:30 p.m. At 5 a.m. Wednesday the thermometer registered 11 degrees below zero.

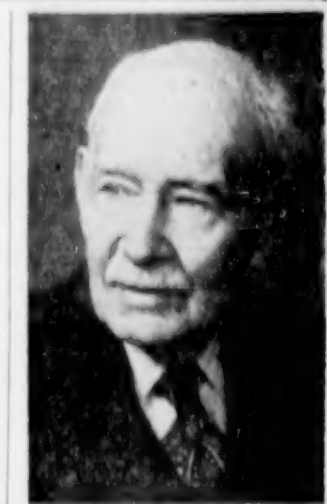

Shoe Repairs To Cost More

Cost of shoe repairs in Edmonton has gone up ten cents for rubber heels and 25 cents for soles, it was stated in Edmonton Wednesday by prominent shoe-repair firms.

Price of leather has gone up 17 per cent but the new cost of shoe repairs has not gone up in proportion to the rise of leather costs, dealers said.

An announcement made in Calgary Wednesday stated that the prices of shoe repairs would go up in that city from "70 to 50 cents beginning Saturday" as a result of a meeting of all craftsmen in the shoe making trade.

Current prices now for half-soles for men shoes are now $2.00, having gone up from $1.75; and for whole soles for men's shoes now $3 as compared to the former price of $2.75, it was stated.

CONGRATULATIONS — Friends extended congratulations to John Russell of Edmonton on Tuesday, on the occasion of his 90th birthday. Board Meeting Hears

Three School Teachers Plan Early Retirement

Three teachers will retire this year from the teaching staff of Edmonton schools; three additional teachers will be appointed to assist in the guidance program in high schools; and two teachers will go to Ontario as exchange teachers next term, according to information brought out at Tuesday night's meeting of the Edmonton public school board.

J. C. MACDONALD, chairman of the board, presided.

Miss Kathleen Teskey and R. H. Dobson, both of Victoria high school, and Mrs. E. A. Flaws, Bennett school, will retire this year, it was revealed in a report of the management committee read by Mrs. F. C. Butterworth. Reason for their retirements, was that they will have reached the retirement age before the re-opening of school in September.

Three high school teachers, in addition to the normal teaching staff, will be appointed as guidance experts next term. Recommendation urging these appointments, was also contained in a report by the management committee.

R. S. SHEPPARD, superintendent of schools, asked for and received the board's approval that Miss Gladys Bramley-Moore, Westmount school teacher, be allowed to go as exchange teacher to Sarnia, and that Miss Audrey McKim, teacher at Oliver, be allowed to go in a similar capacity to Ottawa.

Mr. Sheppard also announced that on Wednesday, March 19, the four new rooms at Rutherford school would be officially opened and the occasion marked by a reception at the school, to which parents and friends of the pupils would be invited.

MR. MACDONALD, Mrs. Butterworth and R. H. Rae will attend the opening, as representatives of the board.

A petition was received from Bonnie Doon Community league, in behalf of Rutherford school, asking that woodwork in the remaining eight rooms of the school be redone, to match that in the new rooms. This was approved and will be done as soon as possible.

A letter was received also, from citizens in the H. A. Gray school area, requesting endorsement of a petition to go to the city council asking for the grading and graveling of the roads in the immediate vicinity of the school. This was passed on recommendation of the chairman, Mr. Macdonald.

Resignation of Mrs. Mary Tutty was accepted, and the appointment of N. E. Loughheed to the teaching staff of Garneau in September 1947, approved.

DR. G. E. SWALLOW, medical inspector of schools reported 689 examinations made by school doctors during the month of February. Of this number 248 were found to be defective and 441 non-defective. In all 302 defects among city school children were noted.

Among the defective pupils, 70 were found underweight; 52 suffering from defective vision; 24 with tonsils and adenoids and 21 were overweight.

Children suffering defective teeth numbered 272, he said. School nurses found 708 pupils defective; four were found suffering from chicken pox, a similar number with measles and two with mumps.

Dr. Swallow announced that vaccinations against smallpox were being given at the schools at the present time, and that shortly inoculations against diphtheria will be given.

Varsity Motion

tion to such establishment.

He read a letter, which had been written to the Calgary university committee, composed of representatives of Calgary groups pressing for a branch of the university, in which he had indicated that it is not in the public interest to establish such a branch, but that the university at Lethbridge Monday night.

The premier had informed the Calgary committee according to the letter, that the university at Edmonton would be adequate for the people of Alberta for some years to come.

CONTINUING with his address the premier stated that higher education should not become the battlefield for local and civic arguments.

The present university had not yet expanded to its peak efficiency, he said, and until it did so, there could be little question of opening other branches.

He specifically exonerated Mr. Macdonald, second of the motion, in his charges that the resolution was designed as a political manoeuvre by the CCF.

"The mover (Mr. Liesemer) is more anxious to have a more CCF in Edmonton than to have a branch of the university in Calgary," he said in conclusion.

THE FACT the motion had been seconded by Mr. Macdonald of the Independent party and had been amended by Mr. Colborne, of a group which prided itself on being non-political, indicated that charges of political manoeuvring were ill founded, Mr. Liesemer said in defence of his resolution.

Gordon Taylor (SC-Drumheller), though he voted against the government in the recorded vote, supported the premier's stand when he rose to speak. In his talk, he suggested that it would be very expensive to open a branch of the university in the southern city.

Hon. Lucien Maynard, KC, attorney-general, outlined the cost of instruction only at the university to lend weight to his argument that the establishment of such a branch would cost from $400,000 to $500,000 a year.

If Mr. Liesemer had been sincere in his desire to establish a branch of university in Calgary, he would have consulted the Calgary committee and other Calgary members of the house for their advice in framing his resolution. The fact that an amendment had been produced by one of them indicated he had not taken this action Mr. Maynard said.

ELMER E. ROPER (CCF, Edmonton) charged that the attorney-general had spent only two or three minutes of his address in dealing with the resolution and had spent the remainder of his time in casting aspersions on the sincerity of the mover.

The CCF leader denied his group was playing politics and accused the government of ignoring any resolution introduced by the CCF group, not on merits or otherwise, but only because of their source.

Admitting that his group brought to the attention of the assembly the expressed wishes of different organizations in the province he asked "Surely there is nothing wrong in presenting what the people want?"

A voice from government back benches enquired "How many people?" But the CCF speaker ignored the interruption.

OTHERS WHO took part in the debate were Hon. R. E. Ansley, minister of education, Harper Prowse (Army) and Arthur Wray, (Ind-SC-Banff Cochrane).

Mr. Prowse told the assembly that the university was not like a department store that could be opened and goods offered for sale. He was anxious that the University of Alberta maintain its reputation as among the best on the continent and he did not believe this could be done if the university were divided.

When the question was put, the Speaker decided that the "Noes" had it, but opposition members rose to their feet to demand a division.

When names were recorded it was found that all opposition members were in favor of the resolution. J. Percy Page (Ind-Edmonton) was not in the house. The service members were divided with Mr. Prowse supporting the government.

GOVERNMENT members to support the resolution were Fred Anderson (SC-Calgary); Mrs. Rose Wilkinson (SC-Calgary); H. G. Hammett (SC-Didsbury) and Gordon Taylor (SC-Drumheller).

The resolution as amended was lost. The resolution itself also was lost on a voice vote.

Ill-Advised Plan

sentative of the two organizations, of municipalities.

MR. DAVISON'S amendment set forth a list of the subjects into which the committee should inquire. They included: powers, functions and responsibilities of different classes of municipalities; functions performed by the province within the municipalities; expenditure; debts; revenue; assessment and taxation; and the adequacy of revenue for the proper carrying out of the municipal functions.

In supporting his resolution Mr. Roper suggested that in Dominion-provincial agreements, it had been found that the senior government was willing to listen to suggestions from the representatives of the provinces and said that the province in conducting a survey of this type should also pay attention to needs of the municipalities.

There had been increases in municipal taxation, in some cases more than 100 per cent in recent years, Mr. Roper said and read a list of the social services for which a rural municipal district had to pay. Some of these might fall within the purview of the provincial government, he thought.

HIS AMENDMENT to the resolution made it much more specific, Mr. Davidson said, charging that the present arrangements between the province and the municipalities were neither "systematic or business-like."

The terms of reference he had used in his amendment were based on the terms given to the one man Goldenberg commission in British Columbia, Mr. Davidson said.

That commission had made an intensive survey of the provincial-municipal field in the coast province and had made many suggested changes which would likely be incorporated in British Columbia legislation at the current sitting of that legislature.

Mr. Manning pointed out that WHEN HE ROSE to reply to the Throne Speech had indicated only a survey of the taxation set-up between the province and the municipalities.

He thought that all organizations, farmer, labor, business and others were interested in the question of this relationship and that if such a commission were set up it should also contain representatives of these groups.

In making his survey, the government will consult all groups in the community the premier said, but suggested that the mechanism for the survey should be left in the hands of the government.

MR. ROPER concluded the debate by suggesting that the municipal organizations represent all sections of the province in any case, and pleaded that the survey should not be an arbitrary one. His was the only voice raised in support of the resolution when the vote was called.

Agric Students Arrange Banquet

Banquet in honor of graduating students in the faculty of agriculture at the university will be held at the Macdonald on Tuesday, March 18, at 6:30 p.m. About 150 undergraduates are expected to attend.

Toastmaster will be Robert Baptie, president of the agriculture club on the campus. Dean Sinclair of the faculty will introduce the graduating students, and a toast to them will be proposed by Ridely Shaw. It will be replied to by Stephen Fushette. Guest speaker will be Dr. J. W. Howe, professor of animal science, who has recently arrived from Jamaica to join the university faculty.

City Girl's Dream Comes True; Travels to Norway in Summer

By DELLIS CLELAND

Petite brown-eyed Margaret Clark, 9523 100A street, Edmonton YWCA representative to the world conference of Christian youth in Oslo, Norway, will miss watching baseball games at local diamonds this summer.

A WARM sports enthusiast, Margaret, better known as Peggy, really "goes for" ball games. In winter, it's exciting hockey play that makes her cheer with fervor.

A vivacious brunette, she was at first "completely floored" by the announcement she would soon leave her native city on a trans-Atlantic journey — every girl's travel dreams come true. Tentative plans set the sailing date at July 5 from Montreal. She expects to be gone about two months.

A member of the Dominion government family allowance bureau here since 1945, she was interviewed in the midst of a busy "check printing week."

FOR THIS MACHINE section work she wears a trim blue white-collared smock. When she returns to the other half of her job — clerical work — she prefers blouse and skirt.

But machine shop work and plate making are an old story to this young miss. She had worked three and a half years in the check printing section of the old age pensions branch of the provincial government.

Plans for her trip to Europe really started last year, when she was picked to represent the club department of the Edmonton YWCA board. Already busy in the Sunday school department of Norwood United church teaching a class of 10-year-old girls, and past president of the Ming Quam mission circle of the church, she found time to attend one Y board meeting monthly. She is president of Beta Pi Gamma, a YWCA club, and devotional convener for inter-club council.

SHE SAYS her appointment means "lots of work and responsibility ahead" but it's a "wonderful unexpected chance."

She was enthusiastic about a start being made now to organize study groups on the Oslo conference. Those groups will acquaint her how best to represent the "people back home."

FINANCING OF Oslo delegates is done partly by the delegate's own funds, and partly by projects planned by the Y, including a fashion show, April 9, and a country fair in June.

Margaret attended Strathcona high school, and Alberta College night business school. Her father, J. S. Clark, a retired postal letter carrier, lives at Vancouver. Two brothers live in Edmonton.

Hallbut is caught on trawl lines, sometimes several thousands of feet long, with hooks spaced about 10 feet apart.

Students Prepare Shakespeare Play

Final preparations are under way on the University of Alberta campus for the Drama Society's presentation of Twelfth Night, one of Shakespeare's best comedies, on Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Convocation Hall. First Shakespearean play to be offered at the university in more than 10 years, the production will be made in complete Elizabethan style. The stage has been extended into the hall to create the 16th century intimacy between players and audience. Scene changes will be made before the audience by costumed stage managers in best Elizabethan manner, and players will make entrances from all parts of the auditorium.

Special scenery has been created by Cliff Robinson and 16th century costumes have been made to blend with the scenery.

Direction is under Prof. R. G. H.

Adaptability Accords Much Happiness

One of the greatest gifts that can be bestowed upon any human being is adaptability. It is a talent that secures its fortunate possessor happiness and prosperity, while the lack of it foredooms him to failure and loneliness and the kind of ostracism that is the result of and individual never fitting in anywhere.

If this seems a sweeping assertion, you have only to consider the people you know to realize that their dispositions are a greater factor in making their careers a success or a flop than their brains are. For everybody gives the chap, who is half-fellow-well-met, and who can be equally friendly with a bishop, or a bartender, a handup while they leave the man or woman whose personality is set in solid concrete to shift for themselves.

It is tragic when you think that the lack of adaptability is at the bottom of so much human misery. Take the matter of making a living, for instance. There are thousands upon thousands of men and women who have health and strength and intelligence, and industry who are in the bread line, simply because they could not adjust themselves to any kind of work that came handy. They aspired to being professionals and wasted their lives knocking at stage doors, or attempting to be glamorous models, when Nature made them carpenters and cooks.

AND THINK of the lonely souls who have no companionship because they cannot adjust themselves to the people among whom their fate has thrown them. I once knew a woman who boasted that she had lived for 20 years in a small town without getting acquainted with a single person in it beyond the butcher and baker and candlestick-maker.

Think of all the friendliness and kindness and good talk that she missed. Yet every day we meet people who refuse to fit themselves into the communities into which they go to live. They are isolationists who can live a lifetime without inquiring the name of their next door neighbor, or passing a pie over the fence.

And isn't it lack of adaptability that wrecks more homes than any other one cause on earth? No man or woman ever got married with the deliberate intention of getting on the other's nerves and being in a perpetual fight over trifles. They expect to live in peace and harmony, or else wild horses couldn't drag them to the altar.

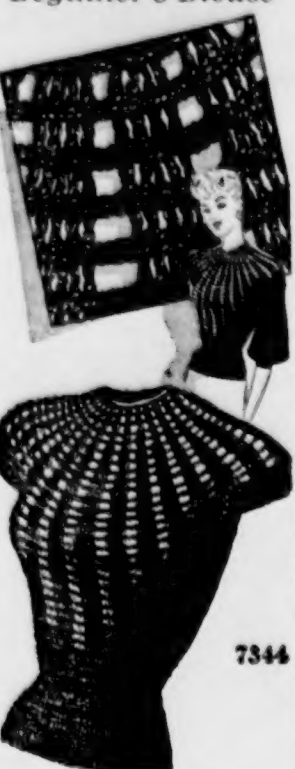

BUT WHAT happens? Each of them has a lot of little opinions and facts and habits that they would rather die than give up, or change, and they squabble over these until they kill love. And the husband takes to philandering.

The Book of Knowledge (Department: Wonder Questions)

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

HOW DOES A FLY WALK ON THE CEILING?

It is not quite certain why the fly can walk upside down. When a fly's foot is examined through a microscope, two membranes, or cushions, can be seen. These are covered with tiny hairs, each with a disc at the end. It is these discs which enable the fly to walk on the ceiling, but exactly how they work has never been settled.

Some scientists believe the discs act as suckers - that when a fly walks on the ceiling, a vacuum is formed between the disc and the plaster, so that the insect is held up by the pressure of the air. Against this theory is the fact that when the air is drawn out of a vessel in which a fly is walking upside down, the insect does not fall off.

Other scientists believe the fly is able to hold on by means of a sticky substance coming from the under side of the foot. Each hair would seem to be a tiny tube for conveying this liquid from the little pouch in which it is produced, pouring it out as required.

How is a Tire Tested?

Tire manufacturers use three methods of testing their products. First, by the use of their own fleets of cars which they call "test fleets"; second, by means of information supplied by taxicab companies and other companies making daily use of large numbers of automobiles; and third, by specially devised machines.

A test fleet is very advantageous, because it may be sent to different parts of the country to test out the wearing qualities of tires under varying conditions, and to determine the sizes and types of tires that are best adapted to different localities.

The manufacturers often make contracts with taxicab companies to keep a record of the performance of their tires.

By William E. McKenney

The Blackwood four-five no-trump slam convention is used today by practically all groups of players. Eastern experts avoid using it to some extent because they claim that the convention is abused by too frequent use. They say that four no trump is not Blackwood unless it is an obvious four - no trump bid, and most of them do not consider four no trump a slam conventional bid over a bid of three no trump.

Today's hand brings out another abuse of the Blackwood convention. It is generally conceded that the four no-trump bidder should make the decision in regard to the slam. North bid four no trump and found out that his partner held three aces. However, the bidding also had indicated that South probably held four spades, and if he did not have the spade king, he would have to risk everything on the spade finesse.

There would have been no harm in bidding five no trump, asking for kings. If South responded with six hearts, showing two kings, then seven could be bid with safety, but if South bid six diamonds showing only one king, North could let the hand play at six diamonds.

It is true that if South had the ace and king of hearts, a grand slam could be made, but it is not worth the risk.

Dumb-Bells

TO BE DENAZIFIED: Alois Lang, portrayed of Christ in the Oberammergau Passion play, will soon be denazified by a German court, it is reported. Other members of the huge cast accused of being Nazi party members will soon face charges. Oberammergau officials predict a resumption of training productions this summer if denazification of the cast is completed in time.

HELD IN SLAYING - At the request of Los Angeles authorities Chicago police were holding Mrs. Mildred Kolan, above, for questioning as to a possible connection with the "Black Dahlia" slaying of Elizabeth Short in Los Angeles. Mrs. Kolan is thought to be the "Billie" said to have been implicated in the crime by a statement to Los Angeles police of Mrs. Marie Grieme.

WORST BLIZZARD IN YEARS HIT PRAIRIES: Severity of western Canada storm is shown in this scene on the outskirts of Saskatoon, with a road previously cleared by snowplow drifted in again. The worst storm since 1927, it has tied up transportation, with trains cut off by impassable drifts. Making rounds on snowshoes Dr. W. A. Thomson is seen in snow-bound Regina. Besides the cold, as low as 22 below zero, Regina folk have had to buck 45-mile-per-hour gale.

Why Grow Old?

A few minutes of leisure time well spent, such as the time Actress Nina Foch is taking here to listen to a few favorite records, may reward you with new zest.

By Josephine Lowman

When we go to a lovely concert or read an inspiring book, or spend an afternoon at an art gallery, or a day in the beautiful sun and woodland, or an evening at the library, or listen to opera, or to some of the lilting songs of today on the radio, we feel uplifted and rested and stimulated, and life takes on new zest.

We think, "I should do this more often."

Life pushes us around so energetically that we fail to provide food for the spirit as often as we should. Because of rush and so many demands and habits we are apt to become lazy in the matter of treating ourselves relaxing and inspiring experiences as we possibly can. Yet emotions and a colorful outlook can become dulled through lack of use, just as muscles lose tone when they are not exercised.

There is a picture hanging on my wall which always makes me feel better when I am discouraged. It was done by a talented artist who is the husband of a friend of mine. It is an outdoor scene in black and white and pictures an angry storm. Threatening clouds darken the sky. There are only two figures in the scene—a small barren tree almost bent double by the wind and a woman also bent to meet the gale. That picture has a special meaning for me, much more so than it would have if the woman had her head up defiantly to meet the wind.

Both the tree and the woman seem to have not only courage, but wisdom. After all, if you meet disaster with your chin in the air you are likely to get your head knocked off! There is a pliability, a determination, a merging with nature, and a stoic quality, in both the tree and the woman, and you somehow know that they will still be there after the storm has passed.

I also have an inlaid Mexican chest which makes me feel just as though I had had a shot of vitamin B in the arm every time I look at it. It brings back all of the color and romance of that country and every detail of the recent trip there with my husband and son, and my early days of marriage which were spent there.

It does seem that we should invest in physical things which have inner significance for us and in experiences which enrich our own spiritual larders. We are so likely to spend what money we have in humdrum, conventional, unimaginative ways! It is so easy to live just like everybody else does, and to think like they do. Sometimes I think that we humans miss an awful lot of fun and inspiration, which we could have, if we would just crawl out of our ruts!

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 63 "Individual Happiness" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

During the first three months of the baby's life there is some tendency for the eyes to wander out of focus when the baby looks directly at an object. This is a natural condition and does not imply that the baby will be cross-eyed.

Cross-eyes are an inherited tendency as is evident if one traces the strain in the branches of the same family. There are ways in which such a condition can be successfully handled, but if left uncorrected too long the child adjusts himself to his handicap and the unfocused eye may become useless.

Mrs. L. J. writes: "My daughter who is two years old has developed a slight turn in the eyes. Most of the time her eyes are straight, only when she looks to one side or at some distant object. Will she outgrow this condition? Or, should I consult an eye-specialist?"

By all means, and promptly. It is not natural for a child of this age to develop such a condition and it cannot be trusted to be outgrown without help.

Mrs. R. F. I am happy that the article on visitors to the young mother applied so closely to your own experiences. It is true that with the best intentions in the world, visitors do crowd in on a young mother, and make her tired, cross and nervous, at a time when she should be developing strength for her new duties. If people could feel that they would not be thought remiss in their social duties, but were being extra thoughtful, the problem would be solved. The new mother should have at least three weeks to get

The child who constantly uses the word "mine" and is unwilling to share his toys, may be following the example his parents have unwittingly set him.

POLISH CHILDREN GET MILK IN FIGHT TO CURB TUBERCULOSIS

Copyright, 1947, by Acme Newspictures

CANADIAN ARMY FINDS IT TOUGH GOING IN 28-BELOW TEMPERATURES

LIFE SAVING MILK—These children from the Nowy Targ area of Poland line up for a free cup of milk and bread with fat on it. Some 25,000 children in the region are being checked and segregated by health authorities and the Polish Junior Red Cross in an effort to check tuberculosis.

ALMOST READY FOR SEA DUTY—As soon as the huge propellers and anchor chain (foreground) have been installed, the 14,000-ton Parthia (background) will be ready to join the British merchant fleet. Built at Belfast, Ireland, the vessel will carry 250 passengers and 7000 tons of cargo on the Atlantic run.

ARMY PROSPECT—Mrs. Mary Troilo, 65, Philadelphia, holds one of the two letters she received from Army recruiting offices inviting her to apply for a career in the U.S. Army. She has six grown children, and four grandchildren. The letters, the Army admitted, were all a mistake.

COLD BITE—Paulette Goddard takes a bite out of the icicle that adorned her train after her arrival in icy New York City from warm Hollywood. She's enroute to England on the Queen Elizabeth to make a picture there.

TOUGH GOING—Laying telephone cables with the temperature at 28 degrees below zero and a 20-mile an hour wind blowing, is no easy task the Canadian Army Signal Corps discovers while testing equipment and methods in the snow-swept barrens north of Ft. Churchill, Can. (Canadian Army Photo).

BACK AT BAT—Home run king Hank Greenberg changed his mind about retiring from baseball. Here, in Pirate uniform at Miami Beach, he takes a cut at the ball—and misses.

AQUATIC HITCH-HIKER—Jane Strickland finds it's fun to ride an aquaplane built for two at Cypress Gardens, Fla., especially when the maneuvering at high speeds is done by Dick Pope, Jr.

STEADY HAND AND A CLOSE SHAVE—Joseph Carifi, who once shaved President Grover Cleveland, is still doing business at the Maybrook, N.Y., barber shop he established 40 years ago. At 91, he's been working at his trade 75 years and his hand hasn't trembled yet.

DEATH SENTENCE—Don Frohner, 16, leaves a Youngstown, O., courtroom after hearing the judge sentence him to death in the electric chair for killing a salesman.

FIRE AT NIGHT—A 25-mile an hour wind whipped these flames through an oil company distillery in Cleveland and for two hours threatened to spread to nearby buildings. No one was injured. The company offered no estimate of the damages.

DICK TRACY

YOU KNOW, I SAW THE NEWS-PAPER STORY ABOUT THE CAPTURE OF INFLUENCE AND I TORE OUT OUR PICTURE, MR. TRACY.

THAT MEANS MORE TO ME THAN ANYTHING ELSE IN THE WORLD, MR. TRACY. YOU AND I IN A PICTURE TOGETHER!

WOULD YOU AUTOGRAPH IT, MR. TRACY? JUST FOR ME?

SURE, HERE GOES.

CAPTURE OF INFLUENCE

IN A PICTURE TOGETHER!

MOON MULLINS

WILLIE, I HOPE YOU WILL NEVER MENTION MY BRINGING THAT YOUNG LADY'S HANDBAG HOME TO A SOUL.

WHY?

WELL, NATURALLY I WORRY ABOUT WHAT PEOPLE THINK OF ME.

WHICH THEY SELDOM DO.

BUT YOU CAN TELL ME ALL ABOUT IT. I'LL SAY GOES IN ONE EAR AND OUT THE OTHER.

WELL, THERE IS NOTHING BETWEEN THEM TO PREVENT IT.

SUPERMAN

YOUNG STANTON GLADSTONE AND NICKY DARROW DROP IN ON THEIR NEW 'FRIENDS'.

GOT ANYTHING LINED UP FOR US, 'BIG JIM'?

YEAH, A CINCH JOB, BUT IT'LL GIVE YOU GREEN KIDS EXPERIENCE.

I GOT A TIP THAT A CAR SALESMAN IS MAKIN' DELIVERY TONIGHT. WHILE HE'S INSIDE THE CUSTOMER'S HOME, I WANT YOU BOYS TO SWATCH THE AUTO.

SOUND EASY.

LATER... THAT CAR LOOKS EXACTLY LIKE MY OWN!

LET'S GRAB IT AN' SCRAM!

DOTTIE

NO NO!! I DON'T WANT ANY!!

PHEW!! I'VE NEVER SEEN SUCH A PEDDLER!!

NO HOME SHOULD BE WITHOUT ONE!!

GAS ALLEY

YES, SIR, MY CAR COLLAPSED JUST TWO DAYS BEFORE I WAS GOING TO GET $900 FOR IT!

SO YOU HAD TO TELL SPINDLE THE DEAL WAS OFF.

I WAS ON EASY STREET WITH THAT DOUGH COMING IN. NOW I'M POOR AS A CHURCH MOUSE.

YOU CAN'T FOOL US, MERRY. YOU'VE GOT PROPERTY SCATTERED ALL OVER THIS TOWN.

A LITTLE PROPERTY, YES. BUT THAT DOESN'T MEAN ANYTHING WHEN YOU NEED READY CASH.

WE SYMPATHIZE, DON'T WE, SKEEZY? DON'T YOU THINK WE COULD HELP THIS POOR MAN OUT?

IT'S AN IDEA, WALTER. IT WOULD BE OUR GOOD DEED FOR THE DAY.

ARCHIE

WHEN ARCHIE SPEAKS TO ME YOU WANT ME TO IGNORE HIM?

THAT'S IT! AND IF THAT DOESN'T GET HIM, GET RID OF HIM!

YOU MEAN THROW ARCHIE OVER?

THE NEAREST CLIFF!

OH, I COULDN'T! THERE ARE PLENTY MORE FISH IN SCHOOL!

YES, BUT VERONICA HAS ALL THE BAIT!

FRECKLES

THIS IS A FINE KETTLE OF FISH--DROOPY MUST BE MILES AWAY BY NOW!

YEAH...I'M BEGINNING TO GET DISGUSTED!

IT'S STARTING TO RAIN! LET'S THUMB A RIDE!

OKAY--BUT I HAVEN'T SEEN A CAR IN OVER AN HOUR!

MAYBE WE'D BETTER START WALKING!

DOES ONE THAT UNPREDICTABLE NAG!

AND JUST THINK--MOM WANTED TO NAME HIM OLD FAITHFUL!

RIP KIRBY

WHY DOESN'T RIP CALL ME? DEMOND MUST SURELY HAVE GIVEN HIM MY MESSAGE BY NOW! IF ONLY HE KNEW HOW DESPERATELY I NEED HIM!

I JUST CAN'T INTRODUCE MORAY TO GAYLORD, BUT THEN I CAN'T DO OTHERWISE WHILE MORAY HAS THAT AWFUL FRENCH POLICE PHOTOGRAPH OF ME!

WHY THAT NERVOY, TOOTHY GAMBLER CAN USE ME AS AN ENTREE TO EVERY BIG-SHOT SUCKER IN HOLLYWOOD! I'M RUINED IF I DO HIS BIDDING, AND AS LONG AS HE HAS THAT PHOTO, I'M RUINED IF I DON'T!

YESSIR! A PICTURE'S WORTH A THOUSAND WORDS, ALL RIGHT, AND IN THIS CASE, AT LEAST TEN TIMES AS MANY DOLLARS!

AROUND HOME

MINNIE IS SO PEEVED AT ME SHE WON'T EVEN ANSWER THE PHONE!

WRITE A LETTER AND I'LL TAKE IT TO HER!

AT-A-BOY, THUG! POUR IT ON!

YOU DIDN'T THING IT YET? HOW DO YOU SPELL 'ADORINGLY YOURS'?

S-U-C-K-E-R

STEVE CANYON

YOUR PILOT, STEVE CANYON, WILL BE LOOKED AFTER IN THE HOSPITAL. SENSITIVE CALIFORNIA! I DON'T THINK THE TOWNSFOLK WILL RESENT IT TOO MUCH!

RESENT WHAT, SENSITIVE CALIFORNIA? WAS BLEEDING FROM A HEAD WOUND!

OH, I KNOW... BUT THERE IS A WAITING LIST TO GET INTO THE HOSPITAL. THE PEOPLE WILL NOT BE HAPPY THAT A PUBLIC DEWIK WAS TREATED AT ONCE--JUST BECAUSE OF A SCALP CUT!

SENSE PLUM!

YOU WILL RECALL THAT WE HEARD OF A BEAR, AT MY CLUB? THE PHOTOGRAPHER WHO SHOTS PEOPLE AT TABLES WAS NEARBY AND CAUGHT SOME OF THE ACTION...

HE PLANNED TO SELL HIS PRINTS TO THE NEWSPAPERS, BUT TONIGHT HE'D BEST START TO ASK FIRST! I PERSUADED HIM TO FORGET IT FOR YOUR SAKE, MY DEAR!

ORPHAN ANNIE

THAT GOD OUGHT TO KNOW WHO SHE IS--

OH, I THOUGHT OF THAT--HE SAYS SHE CALLED HIM BY NAME--HE'S BEEN HERE BEFORE SOME PLACE--BUT CAN'T REMEMBER WHERE--

3-12-47

SAYS SHE DOESN'T LIVE ON HIS BEAT. HE'S SURE I JUST MISPEAKED TO BE PASSING--

WELL, THEN MAYBE SHE'LL HAVE THAT SOME WAY AGAIN--

THAT'S AN IDEA--I'LL GO TO THAT CORNER--AND WAIT--I'LL WAIT ALL DAY--ALL NIGHT--TILL I MEET IF I HAVE TO--

Railway President Murdered in U.S.

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—George F. McNear Jr., 56, president of the 239-mile Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad, which has been involved for 17 months in one of the longest strikes in the United States, was fatally shot Monday night by an unknown assailant near his Peoria home.

McNear died in hospital shortly after he was found in a fashionable residential area police reported. They said he apparently was shot from ambush.

Since 1926, when he bought the railroad at a receiver's auction, McNear has been a central figure in company-union strife which has been marked several times by violence and bloodshed.

The 17-month-old wage dispute between the T.P. and W. and 13 railroad brotherhoods, who have been on strike continuously since the road was returned to private ownership by the federal government, has been marked by gunfire and other violence.

Two pickets were killed and three were wounded at Gridley, Ill., Feb. 6, 1948, in a shooting along the road's right of way.

Unpaid, No-Work Job State Regulation

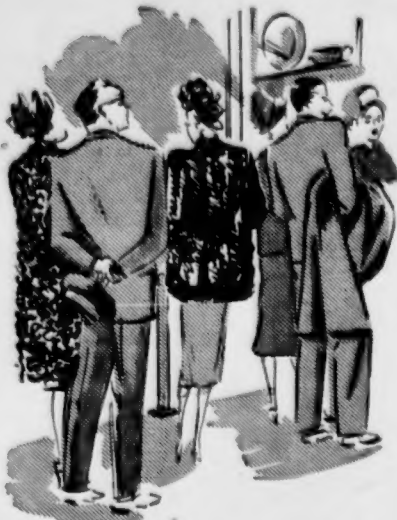

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Here's a job with no work attached to it. Massachusetts law requires the city to name a slaughtering inspector. The board of health appointed Dr. Richard Schofield to the unpaid office.

City ordinances forbid slaughtering within Newton's boundaries.
